

Who are we?

LALIZAS is a company that manufactures marine equipment with a commercial presence in 130 countries. We hold a leading position in the European and International Marine market with over 40 years of experience and expertise in life saving equipment.

Our vision is to produce high quality products and distribute them in international markets through our well-established distribution network. This vision, along with the care for the customers and the indispensable input of the employees, have resulted to the company's growth and will continue to contribute positively in our continuous development.

Why join LALIZAS?

LALIZAS considers its people as the most valuable asset for its strategic planning, policies, values and vision. Therefore invests in them at all organization levels and constantly aims to further development. By setting high selection standards and especially by emphasizing on the approach, the recruitment and the development of executives with expertise and will, LALIZAS provides a career path full of challenges and professional goals.

Therefore, if you wish to join this fast- growing and dynamic team, now is your chance to apply for our "Production Project Assistant" job opening.

Job Description:

- Monitors and assists in production processes
- Analyses production's indicators and costs
- Assists with the implementation of new electronic systems for production process in different sites
- Participates in projects

Skills and experience:

- 1-2 years of previous experience in a similar role for a Production Unit
- Eager to travel abroad according to business needs
- Technical background will be an advantage
- Excellent knowledge of English
- Strong MS Office skills (especially Excel)
- Hands on attitude & multitasking skills
- ERP systems knowledge will be an asset

If you think you are a good fit for this role and you want to discover your new career path, we will be glad to meet you!

Application link for the specific position